EDUCATION BRINGS MEANING TO LIFE . . .

REAL KNOWLEDGE, LIKE EVERYTHING ELSE OF VALUE, IS NOT TO BE OBTAINED EASILY. IT MUST BE WORKED FOR, STUDIED FOR, AND, MORE THAN ALL, MUST BE PRAYED FOR.

—Thomas Arnold

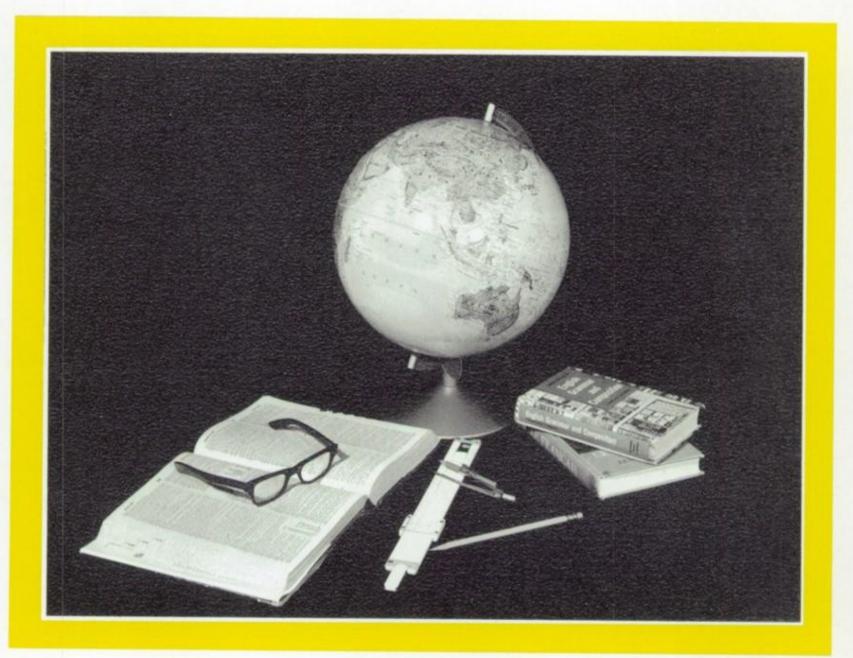

We, professional educators of the United States of America, affirm our belief in the worth and dignity of man. We recognize the supreme importance of the pursuit of truth, the encouragement of scholarship, and the promotion of democratic citizenship. We regard as essential to these goals the protection of freedom to learn and to teach and the guarantee of equal educational opportunity for all. We affirm and accept our responsibility to practice our profession according to the highest ethical standards. . . . We measure success by the progress of each student toward achievement of his maximum potential. We therefore work to stimulate the spirit of inquiry, the acquisition of knowledge and understanding, and the thoughtful formulation of worthy goals. . . —Code of Ethics

National Education Association

Dedication

Our teachers have given us knowledge, not only from books, but also of life around us. Their dedication to their profession has given us inspiration. They have helped us to realize that our world is a very complex one, and — because of their teaching, friendship, and guidance—we shall lead better lives.

Because we feel that we cannot name only one teacher as having had the most significant influence upon us, but rather that all of them have enriched our lives, we dedicate, with both pride and humility, this 1966 BERVALON to the entire faculty of the Berlin Brothersvalley Joint High School.

Foreword

Education today is big news. It is alive with change and optimism. In America, Education offers to each individual an understanding of the meaning of the past and a stake in the future.

Almost a century and a half ago Thomas Jefferson said that no nation can be both ignorant and free. We believe that. Our country stands for the principle that the way to a good life is through education and that everyone deserves the chance to build that good life for himself.

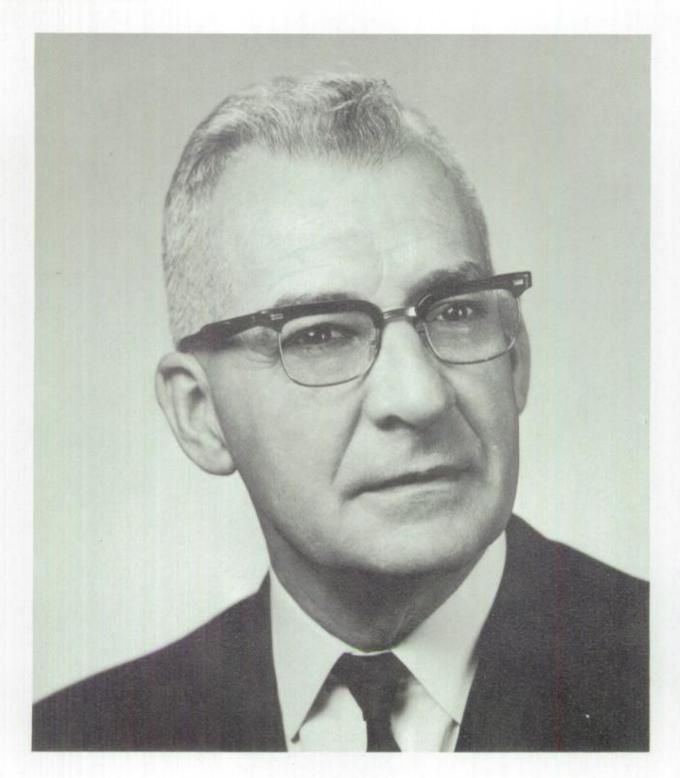

We look with pride to our own educational heritage, and we are filled with enthusiasm at the vastness of the opportunity of today and tomorrow. As we portray, through word and picture, our life here, we sense that our school too reflects the gigantic educational movement of today's world.

Administration and Faculty

Chief administrator

It is a pleasure to note that the 1966 Bervalon has been dedicated to our professional staff and that the theme of the book is education. No two terms could mesh more effectively, and no two terms should be able to bring better results in our nation than these.

It has been my privilege to have been identified over a number of years with the various graduating classes of our High School. Next to working personally with many of our students and seeing their all-around development, the greatest satisfaction I have experienced is to have reports reach me concerning their progress in the world around us.

The present is a period which may be interpreted as one of great opportunity and at the same time of great challenge to our students. Without question I am sure there is nothing that will serve them better than to be fortified with a good education which is the joint result of the efforts and interest of their Board of Education, their administration, their parents and friends, and certainly the professional staff to which this book is dedicated.

My very best wishes to the graduating class of 1966-

Class History

As we depart our high school alma mater we pause to remember and share the events that have highlighted the past four years. Upon entering our freshman year we elected our first class officers. They were: president, Robert Shumaker, vice president, John Heffley, secretary, Neil Scheller, and treasurer, Carol Sevits.

During our sophomore year William Smith, Connie Landis, Linda Shuck, and Harold Krause assumed their positions as class officers. At our annual Homecoming we were represented by Sharon Engleka. Marianne Stutzman was selected to all-county chorus. We concluded our sophomore year by ordering our class rings.

Our status as juniors was confirmed by the arrival of our class rings. We elected Lynn Hauger, Sharon Engleka, Margaret Will, and William Leonard as our class officers. Sharon Engleka received the honor of representing us as Homecoming attendant. We presented "The Courtship of Eddie's Father" as our class play with John Vogel, Wayne Sipe, and Stephanie Claypool playing the leading roles. Marianne Stutzman was chosen to attend all-county, district, and regional choruses. The final highlight of our junior year was the prom. "Carousel" was chosen as the theme and Sharon Engleka represented us as prom attendant.

As time marched on we achieved our long awaited role as seniors. Wayne Sipe, Karen Smith, Margaret Will, and Carol Sevits were voted class officers. Margaret Will was honored as Homecoming Queen with Darlene Hoffman and Linda Krause serving as senior attendants. We presented "Johnny on the Spot" as our class play. We were proud of our athletic teams which turned out fine records in all sports.

The prom, final examinations, Baccalaureate, and Commencement conclude our high school history. As we depart we shall treasure the friends we have made here and the experiences we have shared.

In Closing...

Stephanie Claypool, Connie Landis

Through the words and pictures used in this book, we have tried to portray our educational heritage and our life here in school. We are proud of the education we have obtained here, because a good education is the key to a good life. If each of us would follow this motto — "Real knowledge, like everything else of value, is not to be obtained easily. It must be worked for, studied for, and, more than all, must be prayed for." — our stake in the future would be strengthened.

We, the editors, would like to offer our thanks to our fellow staff members for their cooperation and help in the production of this yearbook.

To Mrs. Evelyn C. Uhl, our adviser, we extend our sincere appreciation for her guidance and help with the BERVALON this year.
